BEISEKER — Requiem High Mass was celebrated by Rev. Father Tennant at 10 a.m. in St. Mary's Church, Beiseker, on Wednesday, September 3, 1952, for Edward Hagel, aged 61, a pioneer of the Beiseker diocese.

Rev. Father Tennant officiated. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

The bride chose a semi-formal tan taffeta dress trimmed with brown lace featuring a bolero of brown lace with peter pan collar. Her headress was a bandeau net with chapel veil to match her dress. She wore a corsage of yellow sweetheart roses.

The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. Lorne Stinn of Rockyford, who wore a pink taffeta dress with satin bandeau headress, and a corsage of carnations.

The groom was attended by Lorne Stinn and Anselm Sander, brother of the bride, was usher. Music was played by Mrs. L. Brosteaux.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at home of the bride's parents, with a toast being proposed by Rev. Father Tennant.

For going away on a short honeymoon, the bride donned a red gabardine suit with matching accessories.

The Grain Storage Problem

Some figures have been published about the storage of grain which exaggerate the difficulties ahead. The facts are that the total storage capacity of all country and terminal elevators is around 450 million bushels, allowing for working space. On August 1st there were 302 million bushels of grain occupying that space, so there are 150 million bushels of space available now. Making all the necessary calculations taking into account this year's crops, carry-overs and probable sales, it seems that at the worst there will be not more than 100 million bushel of all grains that cannot be stored in country and terminal elevators by July 31st next; as distinct from the 400 million that some people seem to have calculated. But new annexes in the country are being built and off-track storage is being sought and, of course, the Wheat Board and the Grain Trade may sell more than the 665 million bushels of all grains which they sold last year, which additional sales would, of course, reduce the lack of space by July 31st next.

Farmers, however, will have a problem to store their grain on their farms until there is sufficient room in country elevators and annexes to take it in during the crop year. It would be good business for farmers to build permanent grain storage buildings on their farms this fall to always have room for a heavy crop whether country elevators are plugged or not.

Who Wins?

We have often wondered just who, if anyone, win a strike. We are inclined to think that everyone—the striker, the employer and certainly the consumer—is in the long run the loser.

A strike is something like a war; neither side really wins.

In the loggers' strike in British Columbia, for instance, which ended recently after some 45 days, it has been estimated that each day of the strike cost the employer a million dollars while for each day the strikers lost a half a million in wages. Only strikers with families received strike relief. Who pays for the cost of the strike and for the increase in wages (much less than was demanded) won by the members of the union? Ultimately, the consumer pays all.

That's why every citizen of Canada has a stake in every strike; that's why differences between unions and employers should be settled as far as possible by negotiation before, rather than during, a strike.

Even when strikers gain everything they demand, it may take them a long time to recover wages lost during the strike period. It looks as if strikes are just "bad medicine" for curing economic ills.

At a time in history when apparently only the strength of democratic nations is warding off a world-wide war, it seems to us that strikes may be regarded as economic "sabotage". In addition they do not help out the cost of living situation which affects every Canadian citizen.

Price Decline

The decline in the price of steers during the past year has been around 20 per cent. Hog prices have dropped 22 per cent. The cause is the outbreak of foot and mouth disease and the closing of the U.S. market.

The dairy industry has also suffered. About 55,000 head of dairy cows would have been exported to the United States this year were it not for the embargo. The milk from this stock has backed up on the local market. Much of this milk has gone to cheese factories, which already are facing the problem of disposing of a surplus product normally exported but barred by both the United States and the United Kingdom market this year.

Liquor Advertising

By T. W. PUE

There is a philosophy of some governments that works something like this: "What the people don't know won't hurt them." It is the very opposite of our hard-won acceptance of the idea "Let the People Know," and in no better way is this idea worked in Alberta than in refusing to allow weekly papers to publish Liquor Advertising.

The idea behind the advertising ban is that if liquor is advertised more of it will be drunk. Carrying this idea a step further, it must be obvious that the drinking of liquor is an immoral practice. So far the argument is logical, but what is illogical is that for the Government to sell liquor is not immoral, otherwise they would pass a law in righteous indignation to halt the liquor traffic in the province.

T. W. PUE

Immoral Literature
Now we know, by deduction, that any paper carrying no liquor advertising is good and moral and any paper or magazine that has in it sales messages enticing you to buy this brand of wine or whiskey or beer or the other kind, is bad and immoral.

Right off the bat you can classify this paper as one that is good and moral. We may be poor, darn it, but we're pure. Just let us suggest in one line of type that Calgary Beer (not Ginger Ale) is the Best and our new address will be Fort Saskatchewan. So we stay on the straight and narrow and stay out of jail.

Therefore, gentle reader, you can relax in the sure knowledge that your morals remain untainted as you read the advertising columns of this weekly paper, printed in Alberta, by Albertans, for Albertans.

You can't classify us as editors of immoral literature or yourselves as immoral readers.

They Read It Anyway

But banning the running of liquor advertising in Alberta papers doesn't keep those people who want to read it from subscribing to outside periodicals that publish this advertising.

I wonder if Mr. Manning or any member of his cabinet subscribes to Time, Life, Toronto Saturday Night, Newsweek or Liberty magazine? If you check a copy of one of these publications you'll see a liquor advertisement on just about every other page. Is it right for Government leaders to have one set of reading standards in their own homes, and another set for the printers of the province?

Actually, anyone with the price can subscribe to papers and magazines printed outside the province, and read all the liquor advertising they want to their hearts content. So the ban on liquor ads running in Alberta papers is quite useless from any point of view, and results in the Alberta printing industry being kept at an unfair disadvantage to the industry in other provinces.

Beer On Ice

You can readily see that the absurdity of the ban on liquor advertising in Alberta papers is emphasized by the flood of such advertising from British Columbia. In Ontario a beer manufacturer in Toronto successfully advertised his brand of beer by going into the ice business!

It seems, he would deliver ice with the beer, and, supposing his beer was called Feller's, you could readily see beautiful painted street car signs commending you to the remarkable qualities of Feller's Ice.

J. V. McAree, writing in the Toronto Globe and Mail, described it thusly:

"Until then we had supposed that ice was ice, that one kind of ice was like another in appearance, temperature, weight and all other physical dimensions, and we wondered what special features were represented by Feller's. Had it perhaps a coffee flavor fortifying its natural tastelessness? Or some special perfume, maybe? Later over the radio we heard it plugged. The announcer said 'Use Feller's ice'. The last word was an almost inaudible murmur, but there was a terrific emphasis on the name of the brewer for by this time we had learned that what was really being promoted was not ice but Feller's and Feller's beer. This is quite legitimate if somewhat silly. It is quite possible that it has increased the sale of Feller's ice and also his beer. Even if so far as his ice is concerned the advertising is a dead loss he may pick up his profit on the beer sales. Perhaps something like this was necessary to call attention to it for we confess that up to this time we had never heard of either Feller or his beer."

The ban against liquor advertising is a hypocritical stand for any political party or any government that reaps $12,000,000.00 annually from liquor profits. It is designed to hoodwink the dregs on the assumption that if they don't see liquor advertising they'll be lulled into a false idea that the liquor traffic doesn't exist.

In Canada there is so much hypocrisy in our treatment of the liquor problem that the matter of advertising may seem insignificant. But if this silly ban on advertising were rescinded the whole business would operate, so to speak, in the open.

Let's have "Let the People Know" instead of "What they don't see won't hurt them."

Voice of the People

THE DANGER TO FREEDOM

In a pamphlet circulated along with electric bills, is quoted an editorial from the "Taber Times." The writer states, "The demands of the people themselves are encouraging our governments to gradually take away some of these freedoms, and this is what is perturbing us."

Freedoms are the greatest and most valuable of the inheritances that our ancestors have bought for Canadians; they certainly must not be jeopardized. Some of us have felt, at times, that the vote or will of the majority, as recorded, was not to the best interests of the people, yet we can hardly believe that freedom can be best protected by so-called "all wise" minority forcing their will on the majority; This would then indeed be a dictatorship. If must be accepted that in a democracy the "demands of the people" will take precedence, and in the end be best.

Many people honestly fear that as the people through their government build a welfare state, that the freedom must decline in proportion, but of course freedoms are restricted and must always be restricted in a collective society, other wise we have anarchy.

Concern for freedom is commendable, but whose freedom is threatened if the people as a majority through their government decide to carry electricity to the farm without cost to the individual farmer? If the several governments of Canada spend $1,300,000 in social security in 1952, it is certainly not the widow, the aged or children whose freedom is threatened. If the government institutes a National Health Plan for all citizens, it certainly is not the freedom of the sick or disabled that is in danger. Canadians are able, and will preserve their freedoms, but it is also certainly true that without security there is no freedom worth the name. Freedom is no substitute for an empty pocket-book or stomach.

Franklin Roosevelt once said, "Political freedom cannot survive long without economic security. The test of progress is not whether we add more to those who have much; it is whether we provide enough for those who have little." Mr. Roosevelt after leading the U.S. people into the "New Deal" program was returned to power in ever known in U.S. history, 531 electoral votes out of a possible 533. In his inaugural address, he stated "I assume the solemn obligation of leading the American people along the road which they have chosen to advance. Mr. Roosevelt was leading the people on the road to economic democracy, but he died before his task was completed, and the notorious 80th Congress took over. This Congress, as is well known, was under the domination of Big Business; and today over 50 billionaire power groups with 700 lesser corporations exercise a sort of economic super-government in American business circles. It is not the 25 to 30 billions net profit they annually extract from the people, but more dangerous are the tenacles of power controls which they exert over every phase of American industrial life. They destroy the safeguards of competition and dictate many times the government's policy.

Canada, yes Alberta's economic life are affected by these forces also. The claws are now largely hidden in the velvet of government spending for armament, social security loans and instalment buying or inflation, but make no mistake about it, they are there; only by entrusting our government with a balancing power and democratic support can freedom's gains be held.

Home Builders Asked To Keep Prices At Minimum

EDMONTON — Hon. George Prudham, addressing a meeting at the Macdonald last week, said that home builders should do all in their power to keep the prices down.

HON. GEORGE PRUDHAM

Mr. Prudham spoke to the Edmonton House Builders' Association at a dinner meeting held to honor W. H. Grisenthwaite, president of the National Home Builders' Association, and a group of visiting officials.

He urged that builders stop relying on the wealthy people as there were not enough of them, and not to accept the rising costs as inevitable. "It is the duty of the builders and the government to meet the needs of the smaller income brackets," he said. "Co-operation of every individual is what the success of democracy depends on," the speaker continued.

Mr. Prudham, federal minister of mines and technical surveys, said "it was deplorable the way the tendency toward asking for more money for less work was growing, and that this tendency could not be blamed on any one group. Privileges do not come without responsibilities and it is impossible to enjoy an easy life without paying for it. We must get to work if we want to develop this country of ours. There are others looking at our rich country and maybe before too long they will be running the country without asking to do so."

Listing current developments from iron ore in the east to oil in Alberta, uranium in Saskatchewan and aluminum in B.C., he went on to say that there is prosperity in Canada today. Mr. Prudham said that he was proud the Canadian dollar was at premium and that Canada was going to build the St. Lawrence seaway alone. "This country is beginning to grow and I am proud of it," he commented.

Hundreds Are Entertained At Elk Island Park

ELK ISLAND—Old country folk dancing, singing and music was presented at Elk Island Park, Sunday, Aug. 24, at 3 p.m., under the sponsorship of the Polish Canadian Association and the Polish Commandants Association.

The junior members presented the Krakowiak dance. The remainder of the program featured accordion duets and orchestral selections of Polish numbers.

In addition to the program, a period of religious devotion was held at 11 a.m. at the bandshell by the Greek Orthodox Church of Vegreville. Church bells and organ music by recordings formed part of the service and visitors were invited to participate in the open air devotional period.

During the supper period a program of recorded music was provided and at 7:30 a variety of travel films were shown.

Arrangements for these programs were in the hands of a committee representing National Parks, National Film Board and the Cultural Activities Branch of the Alberta Department of Economics Affairs.

COLCHESTER—Work is under way on the new oil pipe line being built by Gulf Oil Co. from Stettler to the Edmonton refinery. Brush cutters and caterpillar tractors have passed over several farms in the district making a roadway for the line.

Work On Fourth Drive-In Started

A fourth drive-in theatre to be located just east of the city is in the first stages of erection it was reported last week. This one will be built by Edmonton and Calgary interests at an estimated cost of $1175,000.

Near the plastic plant it will be one-half mile south of Highway 16. A group of men consisting of Jack Diamond, Alex Macerov and Joe Feldman, operators of a Calgary drive-in and Ben Galley of Edmonton, purchased the site at a cost of $31,000.

Believed to be the largest drive-in in Canada, this theatre will have a capacity of 1,029 cars. While full operations will not begin until next year, it is hoped to have facilities ready for 300 cars this fall. Car-heating equipment will be installed, it was stated.

A drive-in theatre is under construction on the Namao road and will be operated by Western Drive-In Theatres Ltd., which now operate two theatres on the city's outskirts. Named the Northside Theatre, this one will open when the season begins next year, Norman C. McDonald, supervisor of the two theatres said. Plans for a second theatre announced earlier have been abandoned he said. This was to have been east of the city too.

Dead Cow Removed From Flare Pit

GIBBONS — A wandering cow evidently stepped into the flare pit and gassed herself, posed a problem for Bert McDonald and his crew who were called to remove the body.

Taking no chances, the workers were equipped with gas masks, and as an added precaution were secured with a rope when going into the pit just in case of a leak in the gas mask.

The body was recovered without incident, according to Mr. McDonald.

The Amazon Is No Creek

The Mississippi River, big as it is, is hardly more than a creek by comparison with the Amazon in South America. In the Amazon's 4,000 mile length it carries a volume of water equal to 20 Mississippi, says Willard Price in the current Reader's Digest. All of Europe could be placed in the Amazon's drainage basin. Its mouth is ten times the span of the English Channel between Dover and Calais, and contains three huge islands, one of them the size of Switzerland.

LETTERS TO LOUISA

Dear Louisa:

I have recently come to live with my daughter and her family and she and her husband seem to resent my giving them any advice about things in which I have had a great deal of experience.

I have reared seven good healthy children and feel that I know how it should be done and when I see her making mistakes I feel that it is my duty to show them to her so that she won't have to learn the hard way as I did. But instead of appreciating my interest she resents it and has been rather rude in some of her remarks. Should I keep quiet and let her go on making mistakes over and over? I don't know what to do.

GRANNY.

Answer:

If there is one thing unappreciated in life it is advice given by an older generation to a younger one and since you are not in your own home but living with your daughter, your wise plan is to keep your advice to yourself unless it is asked for.

I agree with you that we could save our children many mistakes if we could get them to understand that we made similar ones, when we were young and know how to meet some situations in a better way now. But young people have to find out these things for themselves.

On the other hand, some of us have gotten into a rut and have not kept up with new ideas and new ways of doing things. We cling to old ways because we have failed to find out the whys and wherefores of the new. So let us approach these changes with an open mind and perhaps we will find that some of our advice is not as valuable as we think it to be.

But be that as it may, the proper thing for you to do is keep quiet and to try to give as little advice as possible.

LOUISA.

Dear Louisa:

My daughter is trying to make some money for her church by baby-sitting but I dislike the idea of her going into the homes of perfect strangers. I do not feel that it is a safe thing for her to do. What do you think about this?

MOTHER.

Answer:

I agree with you and I should certainly not allow her to go anywhere that I was the least bit dubious about the people or the one who was seeing her safely home.

LOUISA.

WHAT'S IN THE NAME?

By STEVE GUSHTA

BEVERLY

Beverly was established as a village on May 22, 1913, with Mr. G. C. Bergman as the first overseer; and was incorporated as a town on August 5, 1914 with Mr. Bergman being the first mayor. Previous to being established as a village, the community was part of the Sturgeon Municipal District No. 548.

This community was first established when the Humberstone Mine was opened in 1896. Later, persons employed in Edmonton built homes in Beverly to evade the restrictions imposed by the city's building regulations.

The town was named after Beverly, in Yorkshire, England which was the former home of R. R. Jamison, who was general superintendent of the C.P.R. in Calgary at that time.

Beverly is situated on the east boundary of the city of Edmonton and has a population of 2,150 persons.

One service station and garage combined; 2 cafes; 6 general stores and a few other business places make up the town of Beverly. There are no grain elevators even though farming is the main type of occupation carried on within the region.

ARDMORE

Ardmore, 11 miles east of Bonnyville was named after the school in the district. The hamlet is located in a farming region and it would be well to note that there are five Ardmores in Scotland and two in Ireland; its name origin could well have been taken from these.

One time I was helping a lady with her housework, and new on the job. My mistress had to go down town on business late in the afternoon and asked me to get supper. She said there was hamburger in the ice box and fat for frying in a coffee can on top of the ice box. I prepared the hamburger in the frying pan and poured some of the contents of the coffee can in for frying, and put it on to cook. It was lucky for me that she got back in time for supper. That hamburger was not eaten. It was tasted and she said, where did you get the fat for frying. I said, in that coffee can on the ice box where you told me. Well, she looked in the can, and it was soap she had melted and set there. She had taken the can of fat away by mistake, and left the soap can there. Was I embarrassed! Mrs. M. Magistad, North Edmonton.

One day when I was in the house I heard a knock on the door, I thought it was my sister, I said, "Stay out, you fool!" Then when I looked it was a stranger. Was I ever embarrassed. E.M.B. Nestow, Alta.

NYLON NEWS

By M. C. FARGEY

"Nylon is the word that brings to mind such important qualities as 'long wearing,' 'ease of laundry,' 'quick drying.' It is called the 'wonder fabric.' Do you know the story behind nylon?"

Mrs. Smart, a modern homemaker, has recently purchased a nylon jacket for her small son. In this jacket she desired strength, light weight and a fabric that would stand hard wear. The sales clerk assured her nylon was the best buy. But why is nylon so strong and durable? Nylon is strong because of the way in which the molecules within the thread combine, and are made to lie in a straight line. The nylon thread that is used in making sweaters is five times as strong as wool and twice as strong as cotton. We refer to nylon as having unusual strength. But think of nylon hosiery and the dollars women spend each year because they "run" so readily. Could it be that the manufacturers need to develop a new method of constructing hosiery? If Mrs. Smart is a wise consumer, she will demand more satisfactory hose.

A second quality of nylon is that it can be "washed in a flash" and "dried like a wink." Therefore Mrs. Smart prefers nylon for her lingerie, her blouses and Mr. Smart's white shirts.

The nylon fibre is very smooth and does not absorb dirt readily. When you wash a nylon fabric the dirt rolls off the surface. Nylon dries quickly because the water rolls off the surface in the same way. In order to keep your nylon clothing sparkling white you must be sure to rinse all the soap from the garment. Another point to remember when laundering nylon is, your water must be free of all traces of dyes or the nylon fabric will pick up the color.

Today baby wears rubber panties covered with nylon marquisette; sister wears a nylon snow suit for winter, and Father fishes with a nylon line. Nylon was first introduced into the clothing field but more and more it is being used in upholstery fabrics, curtaining and waterproof articles such as umbrellas and rain coats. Most astonishing of all is the fact that nylon can be made to closely resemble fur. At present, nylon fur coats are only made to imitate mouton fur, but nylon pile can be made to resemble any fur so closely that an expert cannot tell the difference, except by very close scrutiny.

"Versatility" is synonymous with "nylon." This is largely due to the fact that nylon is produced in three forms. It is made as a single filament which is used in making very sheer materials. Several filaments twisted together give a heavier thread. Nylon "staple" fibre is formed by "crimping" the threads which gives the threads a softness and springiness. It is the staple fibre that is used in making sweaters or fleece linings. Mrs. Smart complains that her nylon sweaters become covered with small balls of the yarn. This can be partially prevented if a closer knit garment is purchased.

Today varied textures are being obtained through the combination of nylon and natural fibres such as wool, cotton or linen. Mrs. Smart can now buy fabrics that are as warm as a wool fabric and yet as strong as nylon fabrics.

Up to date homemakers today recognize the good qualities which nylon possesses. Do you?

Sonja Currie Wins Gold Medal For Figure Skating

DENVER — Skating fourteen compulsory school figures, Sonja Currie of Edmonton, 15-year-old Western Canadian champion of ladies' figure skating, won the gold medal. She was among six others who skated before judges of the U.S.A. Figure Skating Association. Less than 100 skaters in the U.S. have been awarded gold medals. Officials stated that Sonja's accomplishment was equal to hitting a home run with the bases loaded in the World Series.

Miss Currie is the daughter of Frank Currie, former coach of the Edmonton Flyers hockey team.

Lightning Hits Weed Sprayer

KEEPHILLS—Cecil Homme reported that during a short thunderstorm on August 18, his weed sprayer, sitting in the yard, was struck by lightning causing bending and twisting of one of its rods.

The first snow is now being awaited by some of us.

Crossfield News Briefs

Mrs. Bannister reports that her kittens all have good homes, and she was glad the Chronicle solved her problem. They were all gone the day after the Chronicle arrived.

Rev. and Mrs. Dovey and two children arrived late Thursday afternoon to take up residence in the United Church manse. Rev. Dovey preached his first service at the United Church on Sunday last and there will be an induction service on Friday, September 12, followed by a social hour with refreshments, in the church parlor.

It is hoped that Marva, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. McDonald of the Baptist Church will be able to leave hospital in a few months' time, as she is recovering nicely from polio.

Mr. W. A. Hurt has resigned as village mayor.

Pauline Pryce and Beth Landymore are anticipating their enrollment in Mount Royal College on September 15. They hope to continue their studies and include a business course.

Mrs. Ken Bowen is a visitor at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kotow. Her little son, Ronnie, is with her and enjoys every minute of his time.

Mrs. Phil Holman still tops the ladies' fish derby, with a trout over three pounds, and Ed Gilsen for the men's side is still ahead with his five pound two ounce Loch Leven.

Mr. Alf Bailey is progressing favorably in the Holy Cross Hospital.

Friends are glad to hear that

Mrs. Frank Laut is able to be up and about. Everything done has been right a little each day and walk with. There is no in-between.

Mrs. Stewart Hutchings made a recent trip to Toronto.

There will be an account of the marriage of Miss Kay Spurr in the next issue of the Chronicle.
